HIGHLANDER 1966

VOLUME VI
EAST HENDERSON HIGH SCHOOL
FLAT ROCK, NORTH CAROLINA

DEDICATION

Here is a familiar face at EHHS—in the classroom, on the football field, and across the counselor's desk. And his is a familiar voice at EHHS, cheering the team on to victory, teaching that in defeat, one can win with sportsmanship, prompting students to a knowledge of geography, and counseling students in their goals.

Each year he surpasses himself endeavoring to improve EHHS and presenting to the parents and supporters a better EHHS football team. He is one that students will so well remember after they leave.

Always a friend, always an inspiration, forever ready to listen, always an integral part of EHHS—to you, MR. SAM REESE, we dedicate the 1966 HIGHLANDER.

Tribute to Our Photographer

Without the help of our photographer, Mr. Leslie Fisher, the preparation of this annual would have been almost impossible. Besides this time-consuming and self-sacrificing job he does without pay for the school, he also teaches a full time load and drives a bus. He takes, develops, and prints the pictures with the help of annual staff members, Kenny Corn and Allen Johnson.

The Highlander staff takes this opportunity to express our appreciation for the excellent job Mr. Fisher has done.

This is East Henderson High School . . . a world of the mountains . . . a world of beauty . . . the autumn season . . . cool mornings, when blazing color mingles with summer's green to glow through the sun-pierced mist lingering in the valleys . . . a dreaming afternoon with its haze of stillness and quiescent peace . . . cold nights when the earth is suspended below the star-studded bowl of a moonlit sky . . . Spring, pulsing with new life . . . the silent singing of growing things . . . Summer, mornings of green-filtered sunlight . . . afternoons of muffled clamor of insects . . . all framed by the sky, the deep blue of infinity . . . over all the mountains, their beauty . . . sometimes depresses, sometimes exalts . . . this is East Henderson High School, portrayed through pictures in a year-book. But what makes EHHS so much more than just another typical high school? Why is it different? What is the secret of its distinctive charm? It is . . .

 . . . over 900 of them . . .

LOCATION . . .
 Snow-covered Old Mill Apartments are within a few miles of EHHS . . .

COMMUNITY . . .

E.H.H.S. is People

Dawn breaks . . . a new day begins . . . the hustle and bustle of life are activated.

Sleepy eyes greet the sun . . . The world is alive . . . alive and yearning . . . eager to learn . . . anxious to live. Each day is unique . . . problems . . . discoveries . . . adventures . . . questions . . . achievements.

loyal, school-spirited people

Spirit . . . a unifying force . . . nevertheless, an intangible force.

The prevailing feeling . . . omnipresent . . . and yet, never within grasp . . . and always indefinable.

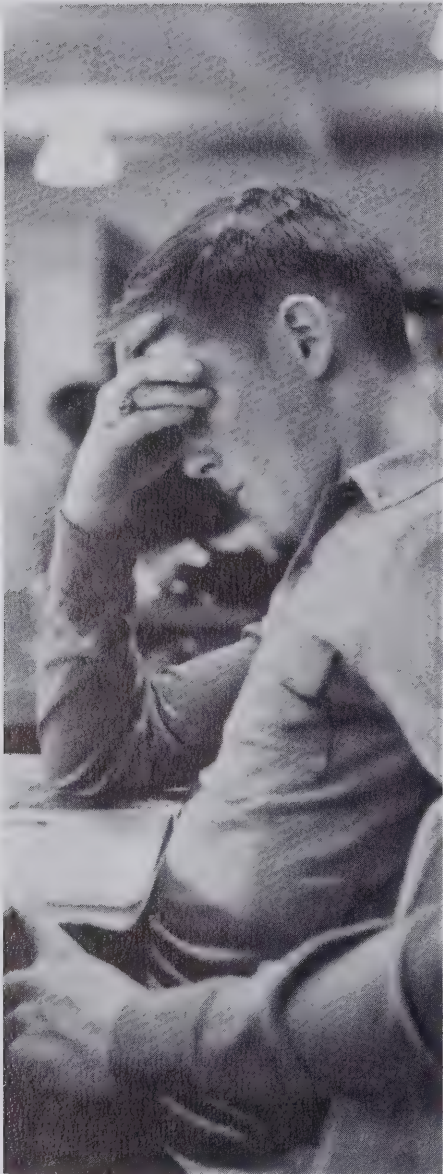

The fervent cheer heard at a pep rally . . . a momentary hush before the goal is won. A strong will to win.

The ability to muster unified consolation in defeat.

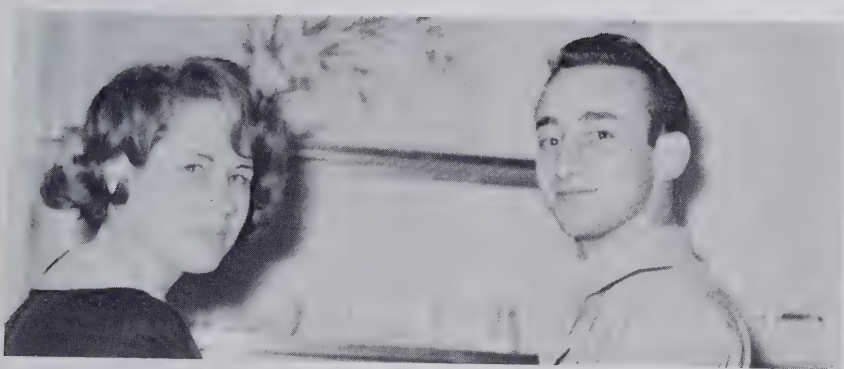

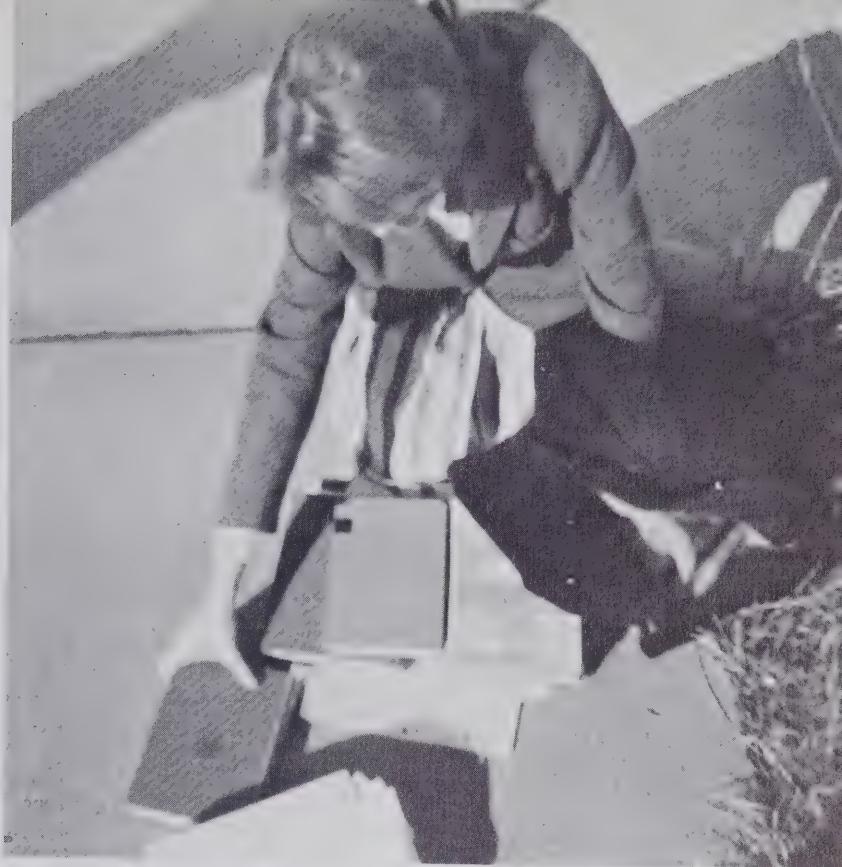

conscientious, hard-working people . . .

Daily events develop into rituals . . . a pattern becomes apparent . . . there are responsibilities . . . places to go . . . fun to share . . . friendships to build . . . homework to be done . . . tests to pass . . . challenges to meet . . . involvement in a myriad of activities.

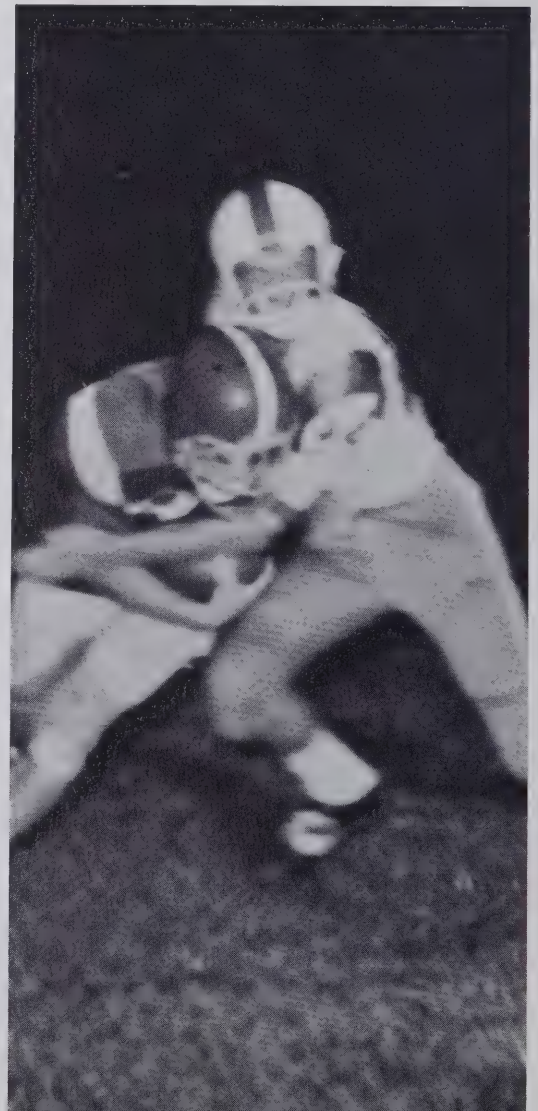

Countless hours spent in talking . . . profitable hours, however . . . each new conversation uncovers an idea . . . gives added experience and advice from fellow students . . . produces a fresh approach to the solution.

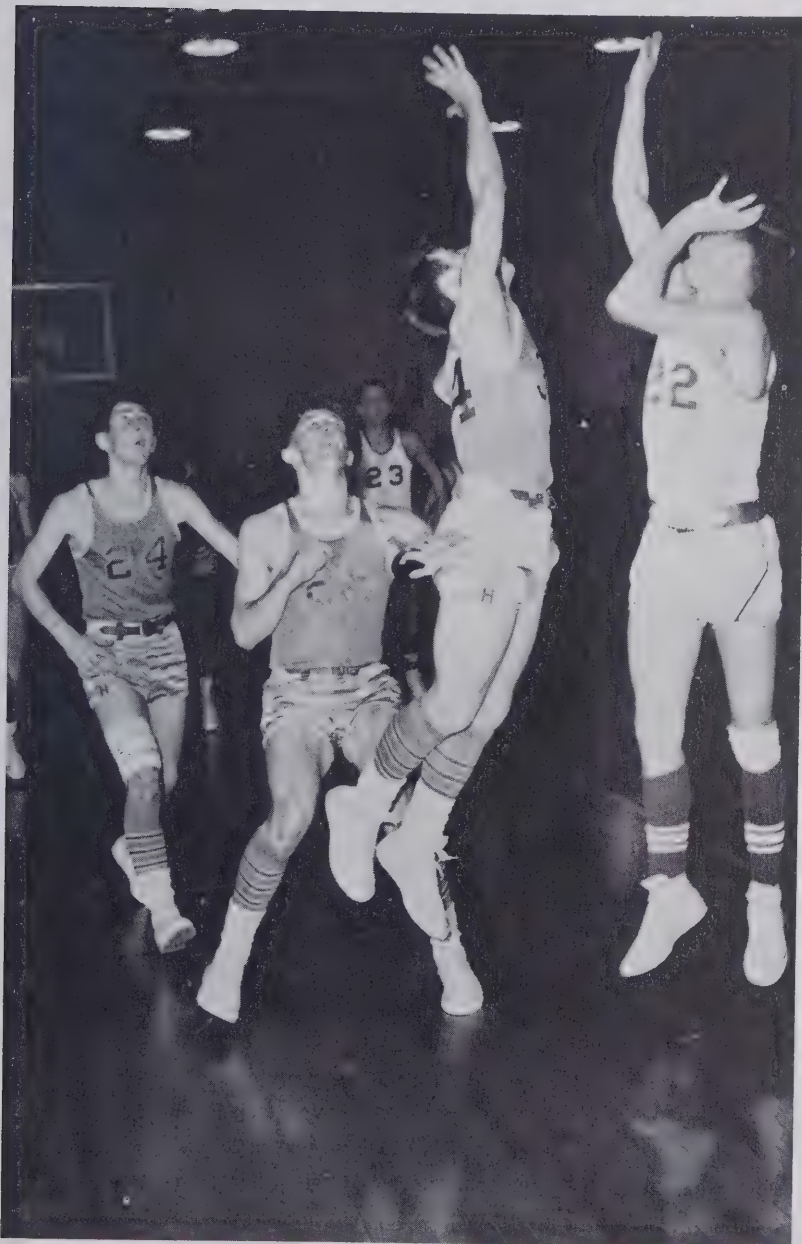

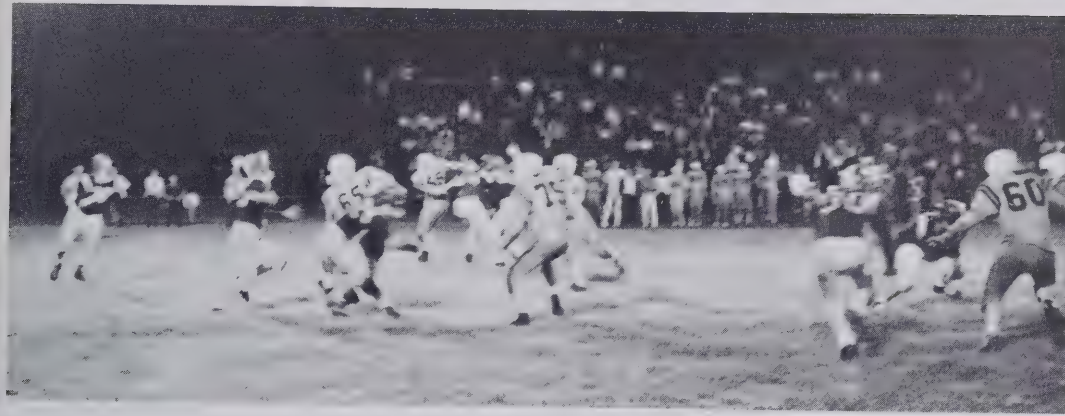

Individuals . . . their purpose . . . their vision . . . blend to make a distinct personality . . . a personality devoted to keep in pace with the changing world . . . a private world . . . magical and imaginative . . . and yet, pulsating with life . . . eager to be . . . to see . . . to experience . . . and to respond to the world of today . . . and of tomorrow.

competing, athletic people

There are many things to be done . . . and many ways to do them . . . the substance of many trying days . . .

Youth . . . entwined among golden memories . . . inimitable memories . . . of excitement . . . confusion . . . contentment . . . and intense desire to achieve . . . to be victorious.

helping, guiding people

E.H.S.'s distinction is created by the people . . . People who have only begun to live . . . to develop an awareness . . . the leaves of time fall swiftly . . . a bolder . . . newer . . . larger world awaits. Inspiration glows brightly.

Today's dreams are another step closer to becoming tomorrow's realities . . . Everyone . . . seeking happiness . . . finds a purpose . . . and strives for it . . . each in his own way . . . never ceasing to try . . . to learn . . . to grow . . . and never losing sight of the past . . . and memories of the days spent at East Henderson High School.

Administration

Mr. Foster
Superintendent of Henderson
County Schools

East High is the largest of the three high schools in the Henderson County Administrative Unit headed by Mr. J. M. Foster, Superintendent whose job is to see that not only the 900 East High students but the more than 6,000 other high school and elementary students included in the district receive quality education.

Some of the many duties carried out by the county administration are setting the school calendar, arranging interviews for prospective teachers, and seeing that every dollar paid by the Henderson County residents for schools and subsidized by federal and state governments is spent to the best advantage.

Mr. Justus, Principal

"I drifted into teaching, liked it, and stayed," says Mr. E. L. Justus, principal of East High looking back on his 42 years in the field of education. A graduate of Fruitland Institute, the University of N. C., and Columbia University, Mr. Justus has seen Flat Rock High School change from a faculty of 4 and an enrollment of 99 to East Henderson High School consolidating Flat Rock, Dana, Tuxedo, and Valley Hill with 39 faculty members and an enrollment of 944.

Reflecting on the youth of today, Mr. Justus says, "I feel that the young people of this generation are just as good and just as capable as any group of young people that I have had the privilege of working with. The student body at East High will compare favorably with high school students of any part of the country."

Mrs. Jones has done a splendid job as director of our lunchroom staff.

Our capable lunchroom assistants include: Mrs. Lowe, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Justus, Mrs. Burns, and Mrs. Case.

Just because we don't thank the staff at the end of the day doesn't mean that we don't appreciate each task they do.

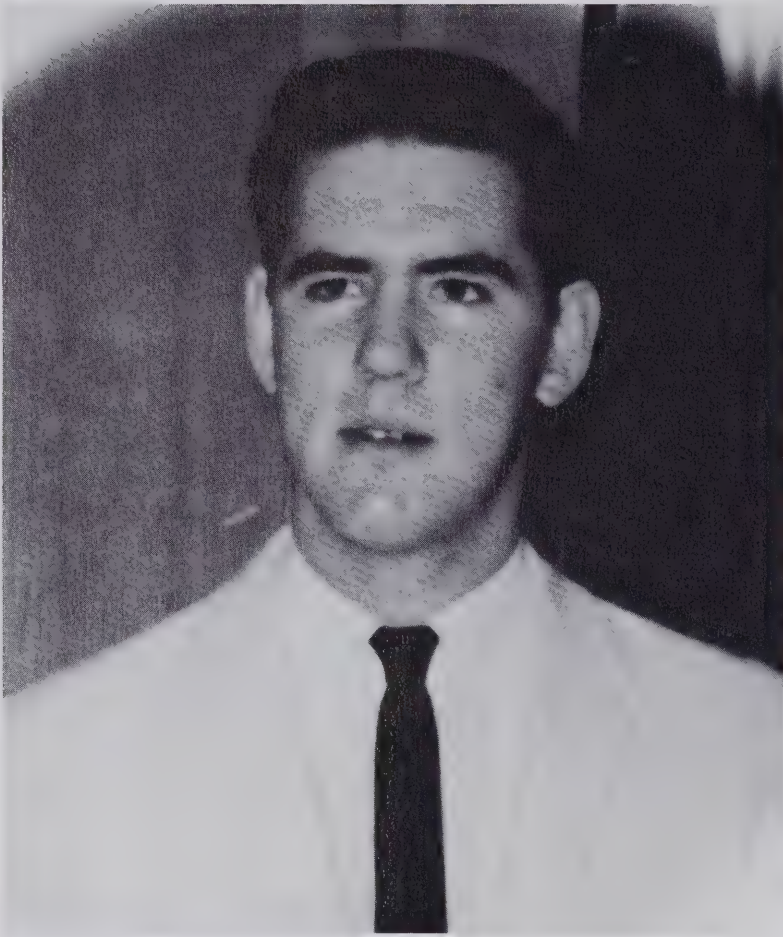

We, the Eagles of East High, wish to express our appreciation to the staff for the services they render.

In Memoriam

Doyce Walden

On August 31, 1965, Doyce Walden was killed in an automobile accident. A 1965 graduate of East, he was manager of the basketball team, a member of the chorus, and received the senior superlative for most dependable. He was just beginning college when he was killed.

HIGHLANDER Staff

Editor Linda Reese and Mrs. O'Shields check each page before it is sent to the printing company.

What is the Highlander—a book, a story, an idea? It is not any one of these, but a summation of all, plus you, the students, who are the school, who are the yearbook.

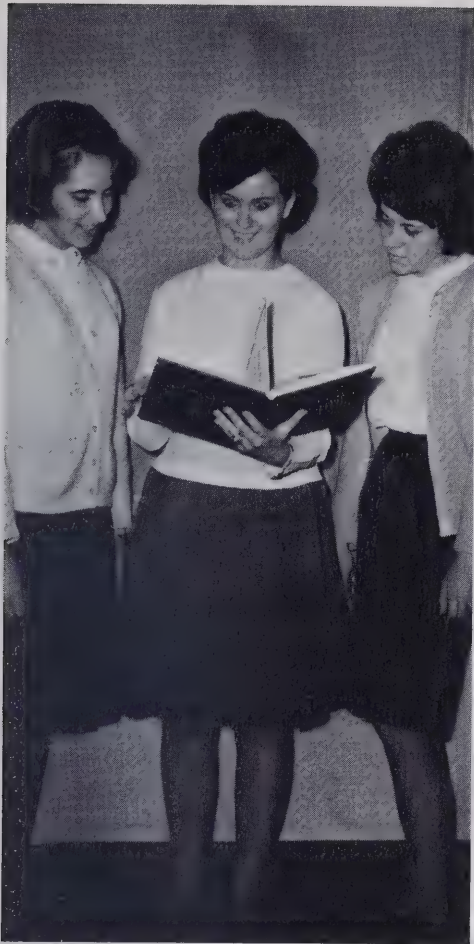

An idea is conceived, is fashioned, shaped, and then flowers into reality—the reality of a dream consummated, of the fruits of a successful labor, of the satisfaction that comes from producing a record that will continue to live with you.

We hope that in the Highlander we have captured some of the treasured moments of your year at East Henderson High School, that you will spend many happy moments reviewing its pages, reliving the excitement, and reflecting over the year's events.

"I hope this is the last roll of these things!"

Business manager Mary Edwards just couldn't believe it when layout editor Malinda Blythe and copy editor Sandra Case told her about the staff's $4,000 budget.

All pictures except class pictures are taken and developed by Kenny Corn and Allen Johnson with the help of Mr. Fisher.

THE COURIER

ADVISOR: Mr. Fred Taylor
ASSISTANT EDITOR: Judy Os-teen
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF: Evelyn Mc-Dowell

Editors include: Feature Editor, Brenda Jackson; Sports Editor, Mark Bloom; News Editor, Freida Boone; Business Manager, Elaine Gilbert; Literary Editor, Lonnita King.

ARTISTS: Elizabeth Bayne, Sandra Hyder

Something new has been added to East High this year. The Administration decided, with the aid of Mr. Fred Taylor, advisor to The Courier, that it would be possible to have a Journalism Class for those students interested in our school newspaper. In this class both advisor and members work together to meet deadlines and to prepare each successful issue of The Courier.

Voice of E. H. H. S.

Business Staff includes: JoAnn Ward, Patricia Anderson, Judy Harding, Maxie Stepp.

On November 6, 1965, The Courier was entered in the Western North Carolina Editors' Roundtable at Cullowhee, where it won second place in the printed newspaper division. It also improved this year in rating from third to second in the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

The Courier also belongs to the Southern Interscholastic Press Association sponsored by the Lee Memorial Journalism Foundation of Washington and Lee University to promote high standards in school publications of the south.

Under the sponsorship of Miss Penni Drake, the Beta Club is the only honorary scholastic organization at East Henderson High School. In order to be eligible for membership, students must have earned a scholastic average of at least 92 for two years of work, as well as maintained high ethical standards. Although this year's membership is smaller than usual, the Beta Club promises to be one of the most active clubs at East Henderson. Plans are now being made for delegates to attend the state convention in Asheville for an entire weekend.

B A N D

Under the direction of Mr. Schley, East's band is now in its second year. The members, having greatly improved, are adding to our school spirit by playing at football games and jointly participating in concerts with the chorus.

Recently acquiring their uniforms, our band continues to grow and improve in anticipation of next year.

Our band is fortunate to have Mr. Schley, a Harvard graduate, as its director.

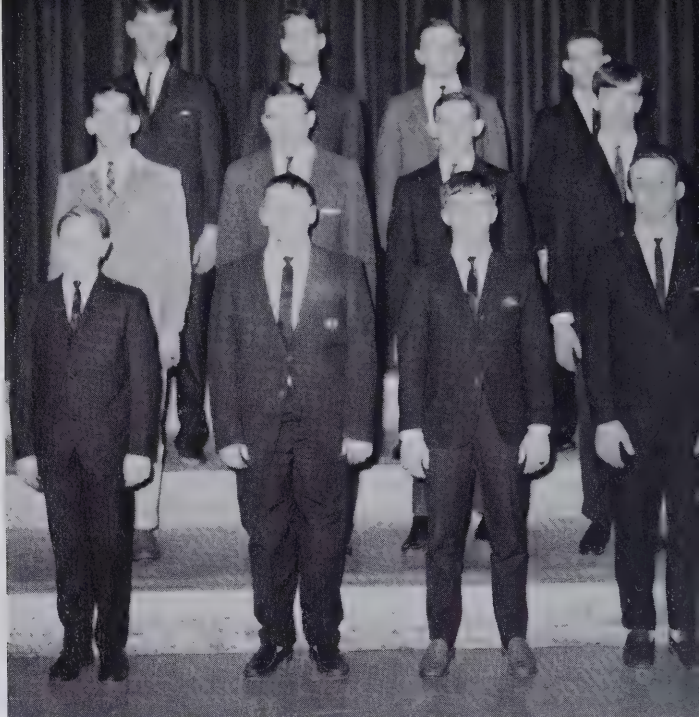

Band is offered as a class and interested students have one class period each day for instruction and practice. Mr. Schley also has practice classes after school.

This year the band members include, LEFT TO RIGHT: N. Maybin; S. Moore; G. Owen; L. Hebb; T. Hutchinson; J. Tankersley; R. Nichols; R. Hamilton; E. Tankersley; D. Coggins; and T. Tompson. Limited to students having had one or more years of home economics, the Future Homemakers of America is sponsored by Mrs. M. Davidson and Mrs. I. Crawford, who state that the aim of the club is to promote the joys and satisfaction of homemaking. This year, the F.H.A. has won first place at the Western North Carolina State Fair for an exhibit entitled, "Are You a Good Branch of Your Family Tree?" The members of the East High F.H.A. served as hostesses for the District VIII Rally at Asheville's Memorial Auditorium. Three members of the F.H.A. will receive their state degrees at the State Convention in Raleigh in the spring. Other activities planned for the F.H.A. include the Mother-Daughter Banquet, Christmas Dance, and the making of stuffed animals for mentally retarded children at Broughton Hospital.

New members wear costumes to school as part of their initiation into the club.

As a chartered organization of North Carolina Medics Club, East High Medics Club membership is limited to students who are interested in health careers and maintain a C average.

A system of service points is used by which students must earn 100 points per year to remain in the club. Any member who earns 125 points a year may attend the State Health Careers Convention where displays of health careers, representatives from medical colleges and tours of hospitals are the scheduled activities.

Mrs. Crowell, sponsor, emphasizes the need for more students to pursue careers in health.

The Medics Club officers are: Mike Hill, President; Elizabeth Sinclair, Secretary - Treasurer; and Eddie Lou Hudson, Vice-President.

Library Club aids students

The students and faculty of East High School are fortunate to have the reservoir of books and periodicals that are found in our library.

To keep our library in working order, the Library Club, under the guidance of Miss Daniel, undertakes varied duties and activities. Each member has an assigned period of the day to work and has specific jobs to accomplish during that time. Each member receives one unit of credit for his work in the Library.

Football Captain Danny Levi presents Joyce with a dozen long-stemmed red roses.

Queen Joyce reigns over the 1965 Homecoming game.

Nine lovely young ladies adorned East's football field on Homecoming night. Although some of the spirit and glory disappeared as the Reynold's Rockets rolled over the Eagles 12-0, this did not restrain the spirits of the Eagle fans. They favored the football team's selection as Captain Danny Levi crowned Miss Joyce Anders Homecoming Queen for 1965.

First prize in the lottery pleases everyone but the winner, played by Becky Hill.

On April 23, 1965, the Senior Class of 1965 presented the Spring Drama Production which included three one-act plays. Under the direction of Mrs. Nickell, who has directed many excellent plays for EHHS, a large number of seniors were cast in "The Lottery", "The Death of the Hired Man," and "The Open Window."

"The Lottery"

The young hostess provides a lively and startling conversation for her nervous guest.

United Nations Contest

The six finalists were: ROW ONE: Judy Smith, Martha Justus, Freda Jones. ROW TWO: Sandra Ward, Kathy Bullock, Krister Stahlberg.

Martha Justus, first place winner.

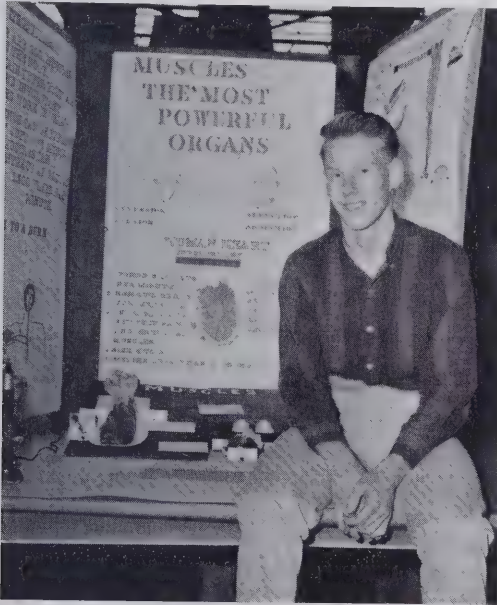

Freda Jones 1st runner-up, also won a trip to New York.

By comparing the United Nations with a lighthouse, old, battered, but still guiding the ships, Martha Justus won first place in the annual oratory contest. Her prize consisted of the United Nations medal and an expense-paid trip to New York where she will tour the United Nations Building. The runner-up, Freda Jones, also receives a trip to New York.

Jimmy Stepp demonstrates his "Uranium-Graphite Reactor Model."

Jimmy Steele demonstrates "Muscles: The Most Powerful Organs."

The Science Fair winners for 1964 were Scott Miller, John Johnson and Wayne Case.

SCIENCE FAIR

The East Henderson Eagles scored again in another field—that of science. Three students, Scott Miller, John Johnson, and Wayne Case were winners in the district fair.

John Johnson demonstrated a "Refacting Telescope," Wayne Case demonstrated "Polarization Of Light." Scott Miller was placed in the top five in the district fair with his project "The Long Range Microphone." He also entered his project in state competition.

The representatives from the Homemakers Department were Linda Dennis, Gayle Nix, and Joyce Anders. They show what they have learned in Home Economics.

JUNIOR- SENIOR BANQUET 1965

Students dance to the music furnished by the Vanguards.

How can he sleep with such beautiful ladies by his side?

The setting was the East Henderson High gymnasium. The time was Saturday evening, May 1. The occasion was the 1965 Junior-Senior Banquet.

Never before has East High's gym been so beautiful—at least this was the opinion of the many Juniors, under the direction of Miss Drake, who had worked so diligently decorating, collecting tables and chairs, and preparing refreshments for the prom.

The theme was an Oriental one. It was carried out by the enhancing effect of a Buddah, a fish net studded with sea shells draped from the ceiling, a sea mural, ming trees, and a floating island.

The 1965 Junior-Senior Banquet was certainly a most successful one. It was an inspiration to everyone who attended—a token of co-operation of the students for the faculty—an everlasting memory of their last Junior-Senior for the seniors—and, most of all, a feeling of accomplishment for the juniors who saw their time and effort produce such an exciting and memorable evening.

Miss Drake cools her tired, aching feet after a week filled with hard work and constant worries.

Krister Stahlberg

East Henderson High School is indeed privileged to have as its fourth foreign exchange student, Krister Stahlberg. A native of Finland, Krister lived in Abo, a small seacoast town.

Making his home with Mr. and Mrs. James R. Hammond, Krister finds the American way of life very much the same as that of Finland.

As an American student, Krister is an active member of East's Senior class. He is an honorary member of several organizations and was a finalist in the United Nations Contest.

The students at East High gave their first real welcome to Krister the day he made the comment in assembly, "If I had known I were to be a student at West High instead of at East High, I wouldn't have come to America."

We are indeed fortunate to have such a school-spirited foreign exchange student at East Henderson High.

Krister and Ricky take it easy after a hard day at school.

Hall of Fame

The Hall of Fame is a new addition to the Highlander this year. Its purpose is to give special recognition to students excelling in various aspects of their high school careers.

Selection for the Hall of Fame is based on nomination and approval of the faculty.

Seniors - Class of 1966

Senior Class Officers are Donnie Crawford, vice president; Dianne Pace, secretary; and Fred Bell, president.

The senior year is one that carries with it mixed emotions and great responsibilities. Filled with excitement and great accomplishments, this year is the apex of each senior's high school years.

Throughout the past three years, we have willingly followed the leadership of upperclassmen. Today we find this leadership in our hands. Although it is hard, we strive to lead the school successfully to higher goals.

As the last few grains of sand seep through the hourglass of our high school careers, we both sadly and reluctantly relinquish our senior seats to capable juniors. Soon we will no longer be a part of East High, but it will remain a part of each of us forever.

With one year behind it, the SOPHOMORE CLASS becomes an indispensable part of school life.

President: Jammie Summey

Another year . . . and we're not Freshmen any more! . . . we're really a part of things . . . yes, another year . . . a year of working hard, looking ahead, and having fun . . . excitement . . . those football and basketball games . . . our Junior Varsity cheerleader . . . we'll never forget so many things . . . five-minutes between classes . . . a dash to lunch . . . and then a rush to finish eating before the bell . . . and oh, those gossip columns . . . "I thought nobody knew!" . . . gym . . . always late to class . . . always a mess after exercising . . . Mr. Henderson's biology classes . . . giggles . . . mistakes . . . a bunch of silly Sophomores . . . "Hey, Miss Rogers, how long do we have to type?" . . . the whole period (groan) . . . end of the six weeks . . . tests, tests, tests, . . . "I've got three today" . . . "boy, I'll never make Junior Class President at this rate!" . . . study, and study some more . . . we're trying our best . . . gosh, all of a sudden we're halfway through high school . . . hope the next two years are as good as these . . . they will be . . . we'll make them great . . . you can count on the Class of '68.

EDITOR'S NOTE

*Silent presses know the answer
To that annual bequest
But the damage is quite over, sir,
And the editor must rest.*

*Too late for excuses now
It was worth the try;
No time for a mistakeless vow
The ink is quite dry.*

*Complain elsewhere if you will,
Errors are not quite fun;
Kindly swallow that bitter pill
The editor is quite done.*

If the above lines were expressive of the greatly deserved credit for the contributions made by the members of the '66 Highlander staff, the editor would be "quite done."

As the last pages of our 1966 Highlander go into place, I am left with the satisfaction that these unsung heroes have done a job with which you, the students, will be well pleased. I would like to thank the many individuals who contributed to this, the 1966 Highlander, and those who helped make this short synopsis of our high school possible.

To all the staff my sincere thanks, especially to Mrs. Mary Ellen O'Shields, our sponsor, who gave freely of her support and guidance; and to Sandra Case, Malinda Blythe, and Mary Edwards, literary editor, layout editor, and business manager, respectively, for their untiring efforts in making this yearbook possible. To these and many others, I am deeply grateful—not only for their work but for their encouragement and support in my work.

It's all over now—the anxiety, the fears—they have all disappeared into the timeless void of the past. And what have they been replaced with? The hundreds of layouts, the thousands of pictures, bushels of copy have all been transformed into what is known as the 1966 Highlander.

Linda Reese
